

Guide to Agricultural Worker Housing

Introduction

Agriculture is an integral part of Ventura County’s economy, geography, and society. For this reason, protecting agricultural lands and resources and supporting the agricultural workforce is a top priority. An important way the County of Ventura supports local agriculture is by including several housing opportunities for all types of agricultural workers—full time, part-time, temporary, seasonal; as well as single farmworkers, and those with families.

Agricultural workers face unique housing challenges and have specific housing needs with regards to location, affordability, and housing type. To help meet these needs and improve the lives of agricultural workers, the County of Ventura has made it easier to develop a variety of agricultural worker housing by updating development standards and permitting processes for this type of housing.

How to use this Guide

This Guide summarizes the four types of agricultural worker housing allowed in unincorporated Ventura County and the standards that apply to each of them. While it is a helpful tool to understand agricultural worker housing, you should always consult Sec. 8107-41 of the Non-Coastal Zoning Ordinance (NCZO) for more detailed information.

Overview of Agricultural Worker Housing

Key Terms (NCZO Sec. 8102-0)

- Agriculture: Farming, including animal husbandry and the production and management of crops (including aquatic crops) for food, fiber, fuel and ornament.
- Animal keeping: The keeping of animals other than for husbandry or pet purposes, with or without compensation; including such activities as boarding, stabling, pasturing, rehabilitating, training of animals and lessons for their owners, and recreational riding by the owners of the animals; but excluding such activities as the rental use of the animals by people other than the owners, and excluding events such as organized competitions, judgments and the like.
- Farmworker: A person principally employed in agriculture.
- Animal Caretaker: A person employed full time on the same property for activities associated with Animal Husbandry or Animal Keeping, Non-Husbandry
- Principally Employed (Farmworker): Income from activities associated with agriculture is at least 50 percent of gross personal income, as reflected in documents cited in Section 8107-41.2.2(f). For temporary or seasonal farmworkers, gross personal income may be calculated on a quarterly basis to meet the employment criteria.
- Employed full-time: The person is working a minimum of 32 hours per week at the job for which they are employed.

What is Agricultural Worker Housing?

Agricultural worker housing is housing occupied by farmworkers and animal caretakers in the form of farmworker or animal caretaker dwelling units, farmworker housing complexes, group quarters or temporary trailers pursuant to NCZO Section 8107-41.

Each of the four above types of agricultural worker housing is unique, and has its own set of standards. Each housing type is defined and explained in detail on the following pages.

For a quick comparison of each type of agricultural worker housing, please refer to the table below.

IMPORTANT!

All agricultural worker housing must be permitted by the Ventura County Planning Division. However, some agricultural worker housing is considered to be agricultural employee housing and must also be permitted by the California Department of Housing and Community Development \(HCD\).

To find out if your project requires a permit from HCD, see NCZO Section 8017-26.3.

Farmworker/Animal Caretaker Dwelling Units

What are they?

Farmworker/Animal Caretaker Dwelling Units are dwelling units occupied by one or more farmworkers or animal caretakers, who are employed full-time and working on-site where the dwelling unit is located, or employed on other land that is under the same ownership or lease as the subject lot. Members of the farmworker's or animal caretaker's household may also occupy said dwelling unit. (defined in NCZO Sec. 8102-0). They often take the form of small homes or cottages like those pictured below.

Note: Farmworkers who are principally employed offsite in agricultural activities (e.g., in agricultural packing and storage facilities, and transportation of agricultural products to the market) may NOT occupy a farmworker dwelling unit.

What types of permits are needed?

If the Farmworker/Animal Caretaker Dwelling Unit meets all applicable standards in NCZO Sec. 8107-41.3.2, and the total number of units do not exceed the limit in NCZO Table 8107-41.1, a maximum of four (4) units may be approved with a ministerial Zoning Clearance from the Planning Division.

If the unit does not meet these standards, it may still be approved with a discretionary Planned Development Permit approved by the Planning Director.

In either case, a Building Permit from the Building and Safety Division is also required after receiving the Planning entitlement.

Standardized Building Plans for Farmworker / Animal Caretaker Dwelling Units

Consider using our Standardized Plans!

The County has 1, 2, and 3-bedroom construction plans that have already been reviewed and pre-approved by the Building and Safety Division. These plans can be used for detached Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs) or Farmworker/Animal Caretaker Dwelling Units. Using these plans saves time and money during the permitting process, and you can still personalize the look of your unit! The illustrative renderings and basic floorplans are pictured below.

Farmworker Housing Complexes

What are they?

A Farmworker Housing Complex is a residential development, distinct from a farmworker dwelling unit, where the units are rented to persons who are principally employed within Ventura County for activities associated with agriculture. Farmworker housing complexes may include studios, one, two, or three-bedroom units within the complex. Members of the farmworker’s household may also occupy said unit within the complex. (defined in NCZO Sec. 8102-0).

They often take the form of apartment complexes or townhomes like those pictured below.

Farmworker Group Quarters

What are they? Who can live in them?

Farmworker Group Quarters are a group of structures, or a single structure in the form of single room occupancy, dormitories, boarding houses, barracks or bunkhouses, consisting of either individual or shared facilities for the purpose of providing housing or services for farmworkers. These facilities are generally designed as a combination of sleeping rooms or bunk beds and may include a shared kitchen, mess hall and bathroom facility. This type of agricultural worker housing is designed for, and may only be occupied by, individual farmworkers and not their families; and may, but is not required to, be owned or managed by an entity or organization (NCZO Sec. 8107-41.3.4).

Farmworker/Animal Caretaker Temporary Trailers

COUNTY of VENTURA

What are they?

A maximum of ONE self-contained Farmworker/Animal Caretaker Temporary Trailer can be used to provide limited-term housing for seasonal agricultural workers. The temporary trailer can only be occupied by full-time farmworkers or animal caretakers who are employed on the same lot where the trailer is located. Other members of the worker's household may also occupy the trailer.

The trailer may only be situated and inhabited for 180 consecutive days in any 12-month period, unless a one-time extension of additional 90 days is granted by the Planning Director (See NCZO Sec. 8107-41.3.5\(a\)\(6\))

What types of permits are needed?

Temporary Trailers that meet all applicable standards may be approved with a ministerial Zoning Clearance (i.e., a Limited Term Trailer Permit) from the Planning Division. Applicant must submit an affidavit affirming use of trailer for housing seasonal agricultural workers only.

After Zoning Clearance is issued, all electrical and plumbing connections must be approved and inspected by the Building and Safety Division prior to occupancy.
